AS TRAFFIC DEATHS CLIMB

The National Safety Council report that traffic deaths climbed nine per cent in March, the sixteenth consecutive of few ice-free ports, an aspect month that the national toll was greater than for the corresmonth that the national toll was greater than for the corresponding month a year earlier, is the most conclusive kind of ponding month a year earlier, is the most conclusive kind of time lacking in military essentials and still eager for expansion and thousands of native reders.

It is no consolation that the increase in traffic deaths closely parallels the rise in the number of miles driven as more and more cars appear on the roads. This is only another to-be-forgotten experience by all who have traveled it. way of saying that it is becoming steadily more dangerous to venture into highway traffic, even though individual drivers are neither more nor less careless than before this steady trend for the worse began.

As it is, some 971,260 Americans have died as a result of automobile accidents since 1900 and at the present rate the 1,000,000th death will occur some time in December. That is a terrible and disgraceful record of slaughter, which warrants drastic revision. It is time an adequate program of highway

Almost two million casualties a year and deaths by the tens of thousands make too expensive a proposition to tolerate. The trend must be reversed, and it is squarely up to our safety officials, enforcement agents and courts to get the ball rolling. With adequate leadership, most drivers will cooperate. The rest should be barred from the highways.

WHAT MEN DISLIKE

An informal poll of males in show business has produced a list of what they think is funny in women's dress. Although the survey has the unmistakable aroma of a publicity gag, it is refreshing contrast to the interminable 10-best-dressed lists.

The male view of what a well-dressed woman should not do or wear includes big hats, crooked stocking seams, lowheeled shoes, gloves at cocktail parties, low-cut dresses on informal occasions, strange colors in fingernails, and untidy hair.

None of this, probably, will be news to married women, for every wife has endured domestic nagging about one or lier years. It's a safe guess that more of these items, especially the big hat. Like all such lists and such generalizing, there are flaws in this one. Big hats are ers knew all about where babies becoming to some women, also low-heeled shoes, colored bave lacked some of the wisdom fingernails and gloves at cocktail parties. All would be well if only those wore these things to whom they are becoming.

What the survey tends to prove is that if women dress to see men, many of them aren't succeeding. If they consulted see men, many of them aren't succeeding. If they consulted seems, many of them aren't succeeding. If they consulted seems, many of them aren't succeeding. If they consulted seems are not seem as a summary mode of turning over great responsibilities which in the number of children born involve the security of the countries are not seem as a summary mode of turning over great responsibilities which in the number of children born involve the security of the countries are not seem as a summary mode of turning over great responsibilities which in the number of children born involve the security of the countries are not seem as a summary mode of turning over great responsibilities which in the number of children born involve the security of the countries are not seem as a summary mode of turning over great responsibilities which in the number of children born involve the security of the countries are not seem as a summary mode of turning the war now going on. please men, many of them aren't succeeding. If they consulted male taste alone there would be no big hats and no colored fingernails and also mighty sparing use of lipstick.

Of the men polled in the survey, Marion Brandon's comment was least subject to dispute. He didn't care, he said, what a girl had on if she had a pleasant personality. "If she doesn't, clothes won't help that either," added Mr. Brandon. FREEDOM OF PRESS OBSTACLES

At recent sessions of the American Society of Newspaper Editors it was pointed out again that the people's freedom of the press is not only the freedom to publish all the news, but must also be the freedom to obtain the news.

It is on this latter point that the press has in the past and formation, the attitude he still does run into difficulty with some officials and hirelings gard for the body and person of the opposite sex, and the degree of government. This is so at all levels of government, from the community to the national capital.

There are always some individuals in government who tial in sex education. This side of have the idea that knowledge of what the government is doing wholly neglected in the books and Who wire the time, the night, the belongs to the officialdom, and that the people have a right to only those bits of information which officials see fit to divulge. The knowledge of what government is doing belongs to the people, because it is the people's government. Officials have authority to control only the information which the people want controlled.

In support of this principle the press fights a constant running battle with those in government who imagine that it is their duty to be censors. Certain kinds of information are properly withheld—things which would only hurt people without helping anyone, and things which would actually endanger national security, for example.

When decisions as to that kind of restraint are made by the people, the decisions are sound and good. But the decision rests with the people and must not be usurped. The press can of children have been growing up be the real servant of the people, a real protector of the people's liberties, only by continuing to fight for the people's right to know what is going on.

SEASON IS HERE AGAIN

For many years women have had their big inning during lawn mowing time. The approach is always the same. The grass gets a bit tall and the man, ever a lazy brute, sits with his paper and lets it grow.

To handle this situation the woman waits until all the neighbors are out in their yards and then brings forth the phere of companionship, underlawn mower. Putting more martyrdom into the act than any Joan of Arc ever produced on the stage, the good housewife struggles with the mower like a horse moving a wagonload of Practices in Young Children" may

There seems to be a wide-spread public notion that we could pre-pare our growing children to conform to desirable family standards and thus decrease promiscuous sex relations as symbolized by births out of wedlock, by telling them early enough and frankly enough the facts of life.

They Like Homework? By PAUL GALLICO

Well now, I don't know exactly how to approach this matter since the correspondence I am about to append is obviously on the level and I doubt whether teacher twisted their arms, or pressed hot irons into their little backs to get those kiddies to write the letters, but withal it is baffling and not a little disturbing.

You may remember that several months ago I perpetrated a piece on the heroic schoolmaster who experimented with homework and gave as his opinion, as the result of active research and laboratory work with classes, that he didn't think piling homework onto the young did them a darned bit of good and that those who didn't have to do homework turned up with just as bright marks and adequate I.Q.'s, as those forced to slave over arithmetic and geography at home after dusk. In my piece I hailed this courageous pioneer as the deliverer of all youth and recounted some of the miseries of homework that were my lot as a youth, deploring that I had been born too soon.

Three Missives In Hand Now I have in hand three missives, all from Fourth Graders from school in Michigan which I shall not identify, nor will I publish their names, but here is what they say:

From a little lady: "Dear Sir: I do not agree with you about homework. We have arithmetic homework quite often. I love my arithmetic so well that I ask for it. When we do arithmetic at home, we still have time to play. I'm sorry you don't agree about homework. I think your school was different then, or the children were different. But now it's different with the children at Blank school too. The whole class doesn't agree with you."

And from a future president: "Dear Sir: I don't agree with you about homework! I have a lot of fun with my homework. Our teachers don't overload us with homework. We have a lot of time to play at home. When you went to school it might have been that way. All the children like homework in my room.

And finally this shocker from the distaff side once more: "We do not agree with you because we like homework. Our mother will know what we are doing. Besides, I like homework. My favorite work is arithmetic. I love arithmetic for homework.'

I Hate Arithmetic

suppose what throws me is that I HATE arithmetic. I always did. I could never make anything come out even. And most of all I hated the kind of arithmetic where they gave you the answer and made you work it out so that you got the same one. This I haven't achieved yet. On a problem where I could give my own answer, there was always the knowledge that one could come up with something and a fair gambler's mathematical chance of hitting it on the nose, say maybe 100,000 to 1.

But here are these little rascals loving arithmetic, and saying so right out loud. Putting it down on paper over their signatures. ASKING teacher for more arithmetic because they are so enamored of fi-timesfi-makes-twenny-fi, and gazinta.

Well, I suppose somebody has to love the darned stuff. No matter what it is, there will always be someone to love it else where would you get people who work on high buildings, or in tunnels under rivers, or play weird instruments in front of television cameras, or clip poodle dogs for a living?

Ought To Be Glad

And these kids who just love mathematics will grow up into engineers and physicists, bookkeepers and public accountants, price tag designers and income tax bloodhounds instead of turning into authors who are likely to take the bread and butter out of my mouth, and so I ought to be glad. But I am not. These letters have uncovered a kind of a well of sadness in my soul and I have drunk deep of despair of the youth of today. We despised homework, and look at the mess WE got the world into. What do you suppose will happen to this globe out of kids who like it yet?

I know that I ought to be happy that times have changed and that his is a different world than it was when I was a kid, but somehow I find myself depressed at the thought of the small fry who rejoices at homework because of the boon it confers upon her mother, in that mama would not have to worry about what sis was doing as long as she

I know that this is a very lovely thought on the part of the child and that this is a hideous world in which lovely thoughts ought to be nutured and cultivated, but in my day parents were natural enemies who thought only of their comfort anyway, goodness knows we didn't have to dream up things to make it easy for them. Gallico, you nasty old man, can't you think of anything else to say but—"in my day in my day "

Nyah! In my day kids were ugly little things who didn't want to do anybody any good, particularly not teachers and homework. And we'd have waited for those three homework lovers after school

Confusion At DNA Dinner Members of the Friendship Circle of the Mt. Jackson U.P.

There was plenty of confusion at the dinner of the Delta Nu Alpha fraternity in The Castleton hotel Friday night.

As a matter of fact "Confusion" was the topic of the speaker, Rev. Loy Gobrecht, of Ellwood City, and the confusion in the minds of the men and women present was whether they could afford to laugh too loudly at the speakers' sallies and take a chance of missing the next one

Machine Gun Delivery Rev. Gobrecht has a delivery something like a nifty calibre machine gun and his words seem to tumble out like nuts from a burlap

These reports and release of the war prisoners furnished the most positive indications the Chinese may not have enough power left for an early resumption of their offensive which punched 40 miles south in five days and then bogged

Red Offensive Failure Even the first phase of the much-heralded Chinese offensive was a total washout in three main pects. These were: 1. The UN International Eighth Army stood fast above the Han river, which the Chinese had crossed in an earlier offensive this year and which provided a major barrier to the UN on the road back in the summer. north a few weeks later.

2. The Chinese failed to achieve a lasting breakthrough anywhere along the 130-mile war front, permitting the UN forces to remain in position for a counter-thrust whenever the time is ripe.

3. The strategic and politically significent Seoul area remained in UN hands and the Red forces were unable to gain face through the Orient by capturing the historical Korean capital, which they had apparently hoped to seize for the third time as a propaganda present for the Communist holiday on May

First Anniversary Event Next Week

While in Bruce & Merrilees to-day, it was learned that they will have open house next week, Monday thru Saturday, day and evening. When finding this out, I tried to uncover more of their events for the week. To try to find out anything before time from these fellows is a harder task that you can imagine. However, this is what was able to find out from them, by pretending to be interested in purchasing a Television Set.

This was their downfall. Can you imagine, not wanting to sell me a television set today? Here's why! Starting Monday, it seems they will have the same thing at a they will have the same thing at a more attractive price, therefore I can get more for the same money. What it will be yet, I don't know because they said no more and they were off to do other things.

This is where I got wise to them and I tried to buy other things in the store. I worked one of the other boys over to the automatic washers and dryers. I didn't even get to first base with him. He said "Come in next week, that only, "Come in next week, that will be the time to buy, not now." What's coming, I don't know yet, but you can bet I'm going to be the first one in Monday morning, because they have me convinced that this is what I've been waiting for. Just then one of the boys out in the Warehouse called out front telling them they just got another shipment of those gifts for next

EDWARD A. DeCARBO ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR MAYOR

In announcing my candidacy for Mayor in the Republican primaries, July 24, I, Edward A. DeCarbo, approach you, the voting citizens, as a fellow citizen and ask for your support based on an appraisal of the opposing candidates and the issues of the day.

I am a life long citizen of New Castle, 34 years of age, married, father of two children, a property owner and a veteran of more than four years service during World War II. I was graduated from New Castle Senior High School, Pittsburgh Institute of Mortuary Science and am a licensed funeral director. I have a profound pride in our city and a deep interest in its future. Throughout my adult life I have been active in veterans organizations and civic groups. My record in these endeavors for the betterment of the community speaks for itself. It is with these qualifications plus the determination to serve New Castle in the best interest of all its citizens that I have entered the primary.

If elected I would strive to give New Castle an economical, clean, and progressive administration without favor because of race, nationality, or religious creed. I would at all times welcome constructive criticism and ideas that would make our city a better place in which to live.

You, the citizens, rightfully demand positive leadership and high standards of conduct of your Mayor. If elected I would wholeheartedly support a program based on more adequate youth recreation facilities, with complete consideration for our elders, active efforts to secure better housing, curtailment and elimination of organized crime, expanded and efficient municipal services and promotion of new industries for New Castle. Your support for my candidacy is solicited and will be sincerely appreciated.

Respectfully submitted, EDWARD A. DeCARBO.

this time and escort visitors through the hospital proper.

These plans were made Thursday afternoon, when an important meeting was conducted by the New Castle Hospital Auxiliary in the Nurses' Home. President Mrs. William Strawbridge was in charge at the session. Mrs. Strawbridge expressed hope that the public at large will show a keen interest in the hos-pital and take advantage of the open house. The public will be afforded an opportunity of really seeing the hospital and how it is operated. This is the day—May 12 that interested persons may call, tour the hospital and ask questions that will make you fully under-stand the hospital.

Mrs. Edwin Willmarth gave an excellent report on a recent card party held by the hospital auxillary. The nominating slate, with Chairman Mrs. Louis Kohn, also made its report. It was announced that the election of officers will take place at the June meeting.

Handicraft Classes Projected At Meeting

Handicraft classes for Lawrence county handicapped youth will become a reality this summer, according to current plans of the Lawrence County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. Directors of this organization held their regular monthly meeting Thursday nigh at the YMCA. Thomas Foley, co-chairman of the policy program committee, reported progress in this first major undertaking of the relatively new organization.

Through the cooperation Burton and the New Castle school board, the North street building will be available for Saturday classes during the summer months. It is planned that the first class will be held June 16 with regular weekly sessions the rest of the summer. Skilled instructors will be furnished by the Business and Pro-fessional Women's club, ladies of service club and home economics Participants will be selected on a county-wide basis.

A swimming program for handicapped will also be inaugurated by the crippled children group this

Deshon Plans For Open House

Dr. Joseph L. Campbell, manager of the eVterans Administration hospital at Butler, announced today that the hospital would again have "open house" on National Hospital Day, May 12.
Dr. Campbell said, "Our 'open house' in the past years has been very successful and a great many interested people took advantage of this opportunity to see the hos-pital, its equipment and its facil-ities. I have had many people ask if we might not have a similar occasion again since they had missed it last year. In order to accommodate those people who missed last year's celebration, I am extending a general invitation to the public to attend the 'open house' Saturday, May 12th.

The hospital will be open from 10:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. for regularly conducted tours. I know that they will see much of interest and get a better understanding of the treatment given to our hospitalized veterans.

McGIVERLY SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN TALKING TO FOLKS

Our old friend Horatius Q. McGiverly (of the Spring Hill McGiverly's) dropped in yesterday afternoon for his first call of the spring.

"Y'know" said he, "I've been wondering if all you say about Federal trucks is true. Sort of had a feeling you might be overplaying your hand a bit.

But I was wrong. I got to talking to a truck operator the other day and says I, what do you know about Federal trucks?

'And says he, the ads tell less than the full truth. They're the doggondest trucks for work you ever saw. They'll do anything any other truck will do and do it better." As he was leaving Mr. McG looked back and said, "I thought you'd like to know.' Which of course we would. But it was nice of our old friend to drop in and tell us. Perhaps you would like to stop by and see for yourself. Why don't you?

Even in these days of high prices, a billion and a half dollars is a lot of money.

Scattered out in invested capital over the 67 counties of Pennsylvania it means a lot of jobs, a lot of purchasing power, and a lot of tax money.

That's the size of the investment of the motor truck industry in Pennsylvania, approximately a billion and a half dollars.

It is not concentrated capital it represents the investment of thousands of men and women in every county. It's big business and by the time the tomahawking was over, had a 16-4 win, their first in the 1951 Mid-Atlantic season, and hold the top spot today along with the Erie Senators.

Sunday afternoon the Indians will unfurl their tepees before the home crowd at Flaherty Memorial Field, Niagara Falls will furnish the opposition and game time is 2:30, following brief opening day

Expect Crowd Of 2,500

His Honor Mayor John Haven will toss the first ball, Honorable Judge John Lamoree will be behind the plate, to receive the mayoralty pitch and the game will be on.

In the event of good weather tomorrow, a crowd of around 2,500 will no doubt be in the stands to greet the Indians. President Al Scarazzo and his board of directors have done a tremendous job of getting the Indians launched on the 1951 campaign.

Ciske Hurls Fine Game

Big Bill Ciske, the Wisconsin boy turned in a creditable pitching performance last night as he gave Butler but eight hits and fanned eight men. Ciske was never in any great trouble. The Tigers did not bunch more than two hits in any inning.

Unlimbering heavy bludgeons were-Joe Frisina, two triples and two singles; Walt Kowalski, three singles, and Bill Green a triple and two singles. Chet Butler and Rudy Johnson each contributed two hits. Tonight the Indians return to Butler for a 9 o'clock game, and Manager Al Milnar has nominated Stan Zedalis the veteran to take the Ben Rossman will get the starting job here Sunday Opening Ceremonies Set Business Manager Jack Lewis announced today that opening day activities are all set with the American Legion band furnishing the music and the players marching to the flag-pole to raise the flag. The players will be announced individually, and the game will be on.

There is a big interest being shown this year in the fortunes of the Indians under Milnar as they seek the first title that New Castle has ever had in the M-A circuit. Opening day prices are $1.00 for general admission seats and $1.25 for box seats. Children under 12 if with parents or adults, free. Frisina Sparkles At Bat

MET PETE KRASS, Carnegie's big game hunter, fisherman and a photoist of wild life at the Mahoning Sportsman's association banquet several nights ago, at Hillsville. Where he hasn't been isn't and what he hasn't photographed also isn't. He has pictures of fish caught in the wildness of far north Canada, the deep southland and also photos of caribou, bear, moose and other animals in northwest Canada, and elsewhere. While at Hillsville, he displayed motion films of aero game feeding of deer in Pennsylvania nothern counties.

Krass was born in Germany, where he said, the only time he caught fish or shot game, was when he poached. In Germany, in younger days, all the fishing streams flowed through lands owned by nobility and the common man was barred from tossing a line in a creek or firing a shot in the forest.

He said he recalled reading a book by Peter Chartiers, the Frenchman, whom described the wonderful fishing to be had in a creek he called "Chartiers Creek", at Carnegie, and he promised himself, some day, after he could migrate to America, he would fish Chartiers creek. After landing in the United States, he spent some time in Massaschusetts, then treked west, finally landing in Carnegie, where he looked for the wonderful stream, which according to the author, Peter Chartiers, abounded with fish. In Chartiers' day, according to the book, there was sturgeon and all kind of "big fellows" in the creek but, by the time Krass arrived, the stream turned out to be no more than a small, muddy stream. However determined to ply his luck, he cast a line into the creek and set down to await a nibble. Krass reports that while he sat on the embankment there came along a man whom he later learned to be the police chief. The chief looked at Krass, shrugged his shoulders, and figuring he had lost his mind for fishing in such a creek, asked:

'Are you from Woodville? Now Woodville was a place for persons somewhat unbalanced, Krass said, and it was sometime before Krass could convince the chief of police that he was not from Woodville, was sane, and was bent on catching a fish from the stream which Author Chartiers, in his book said was wonderful in fish life.

Pete's luck was neglible. However, his lust for fish and hunting grew because in his days in Germany he was prevented from enjoying the pleasure of hooking a member of the piscatorial tribe, shooting a rabbit or buck. Finally he joined outdoor organizations. As time grew, he meandered from place to place, by airplane to far away places, and on many occasions he had to portage to reach the

North County League Opens Monday Night

North County Baseball League will open its 1951 season Monday night with East Brook at Pulaski, St. Lucy's at New Wilmington, and the Eden-Hillers at Volant.

The teams will play a 40-game schedule, with games on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Regular league season will close on August 6, but will be followed by Shaughnessy playoff for league championship between top four

Last year's championship team -No. 5 Vets-are not in the league this season, though several of the team's players are on the squads of other teams.

All six teams appear to be strong, with a good mixture of newcomers and veterans. All games are scheduled to begin at 6 o'clock. Lawrence County Umpires association members will handle league games.

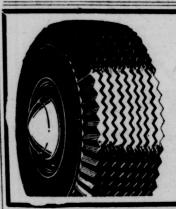

BUTLER GOLFERS WIN Butler high school golf team knocked off previously undefeated Sharon 10-5 Friday afternoon at Butler, to tie the Tigers for the lead in Section One, WPIAL.

Maglie Hurls One-Hitter

Yanks Take Top Spot, Mantle Homers

By HOWARD SIGMAND (I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 5. - Branch Rickey, discussing the New York Giants' tailspin into the National league cellar, said he didn't see anything for Leo Durocher to worry about.

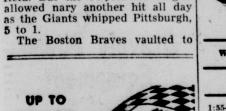

He explained:
"I understand their pitching has "I understand their pitching has not been too bad and that's what counts."

Ron Coder, goalie on the Penn State soccer team which toured the Middle East, is a pole vaulter Rickey's words of wisdom proved yesterday to be the understatement of the year. While the Pittsburgh Mahatma looked on pop-eyed, the Giants' Sal Maglie went out and pitched a classic.

It didn't start so well with Pete Castiglione, leadoff man of the Pirates, smoking a triple to left field. But the 34-year-old Maglie allowed nary another hit all day as the Giants whipped Pittsburgh, Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 4.

Mantle Homers

For the Yanks, Eddie Lopat spun his fourth victory of the year as he stopped the supine St. Louis Browns, 8 to 1. Rookie Mickey Mantle belted his second homer of the season. The Chicago White Sox finally beat the Senators, 6 to 5, in 11 innings. Cleveland fell afoul of six-hit pitching by Alex Kellner and lost to Philadelphia, 3 to 1. Detroit walloped the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 4.

of the Board of School Directors of the Township of Union, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, which is a School District of the Fourth Class school district of the Found Classical under the Laws of said Commonwealth providing for the Levying of a Tax on Sales of Admission to Places of Amusement Conducted within the Territorial Limits of said School District.

Moved by MILTON PATTISON, and seconded by RAY BAILEY, that the following resolution be passed:

Be it resolved that the School District of the Township of Union, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, being a school district of the fourth class under the provisions of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, for the school year beginning July 1, 1951 and ending June 30, 1952 leavy and assess for general revenue purposes, a tax of 19% on each sale of admission to all places of amusement located to all places of amusement located within the territorial limits of said School District, same to be used for On my farm which is located at the intersection of the West Middlesex-Mercer and Clarksville-New Wilmington blacktops in the village of Bethel.

All persons, firms or corporations operating any place of amusement within the territorial limits of the said School District hereby are required to make monthly reports to the Secretary of this Board of School Directors on the First day of each month, or on the Second day if the First day is Sunday, showing the number of admissions to places of amusement oper-130-ACRE FARM-Attractive modern home. 7 rooms and bath. School District hereby are required to school District hereby are required to make payment to the Treasurer of said School District of the amount due and owing for said tax for the preceding current month based on said report, said payment to be made not later than the Tenth day of the month succeeding the month for which the re-MR. AND MRS. HAROLD WELSH, port was made.

The reason which, in the judgment of this Board of School Directors, necessitates the imposition of this tax, is that in the construction of ner buildings and the acquiring of ner equipment and the employment of ad ditional teachers, it is necessary to have more revenue than it is possible to collect by levies on the real estate assessment in said School District.

The amount of revenue estimated to be derived from this tax is $5,000.00.

That this resolution be published in the New Castle News once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks beginning on April 28, 1951, setting forth, among other things, that it is the purpose of this Board of School Directors to adopt said resolution finally on the 22nd day of May 1951, at a meeting of zend day of May Isol, at a meeting of said Board of School Directors to be held on that date in the high school building of said School District at 8 o'clock P.M., Daylight Savings Time.

Market Today Drifts Lower

NEW YORK, May 5 .- (INS)-The stock market drifted lower today in a dull session. While profit-taking was evident, there was no real pressure and most losses were fractional.

First-hour volume reached 250,-Chemicals were the weakest group, with losses running to over $1 in some cases. Motors edged downward, with 000 shares.

Chrysler losing $1. Steels were easier, as were rials, Oils were mixed, with some issues displaying strength. Coppers made slight advances.

At 11 a. m. the Dow-Jones industrial averages were off 85 cents, rails were off six cents and utilities were four cents lower. Traders felt the session's sluggishness was caused by the week-
